Your biggest financial asset is yourself

It's important to insure your car, your home, and your valuables. But the single biggest financial asset you may want to protect is your ability to earn an income – especially when your lifetime earnings can easily amount to over S$4.4 million!^

Here's an example of an average Singaporean's earnings journey to S$4.4 million:
Kelvin Lee is a 34-year-old marketing executive. He earns S$5,197 per month^, and expects to get a 5% pay rise each year until he retires at age 65. From now until he retires, his cumulative lifetime earnings will amount to about S$4,412,925.90.

Disability is one of the biggest threats to your financial stability

Some may think that disability is a worry only for the elderly. But an unexpected illness or injury can leave you unable to work, cutting off your income growth potential and draining your savings.

While other types of insurance may tide you over your medical expenses and lost income in the short term, they will not cover you for an extended period. With AIA Premier Disability Cover, you can rest assured with 360° protection that supplements your income and supports your recovery.

Effective protection for your biggest asset - income

Monthly benefit of up to 75% of existing income

You will receive monthly benefit[1] for up to 2 years, starting from the end of the 60-day deferment period after your disability begins, even if you have payouts from other disability income policies.[2] If you are unable to perform any suitable occupation that you have been taught, experienced, or trained for after 2 years, you will continue to receive the monthly benefit[1] till age 65, or until you recover from your disability (whichever comes first).

Lump sum payouts

- Reimburse necessary rehabilitation expenses[3] of up to 6 times the monthly benefit per disability
- Pays 24 times the monthly benefit in the event of catastrophic disability[4]
- Pays 12 times the monthly benefit in the event of death[5]

Deferment period reimbursement

Rest assured that you won't have to worry about loss of income during the 60-day deferment period. We've got you covered with a payback benefit of up to 2 times your monthly benefit.

Premium waiver with continued protection

We want you to focus on your recovery, not financial worries. That's why we'll waive your premiums up to age 65 or until you recover from your disability (whichever comes first), even as you continue to receive your monthly benefit.

Scenario

Jack Tan is a 34-year-old sales executive who is married with one child. As the family's main income earner, he decides to protect his future earnings with AIA Premier Disability Cover. He applies for the protection level of 50% of his existing income of S$8,000 per month (S$4,000 monthly benefit), at an annual premium of S$1,376.

At the age of 45, he suffers a stroke that leaves him with significant speech impairment. He is unable to communicate effectively with his clients and continue working as a sales executive. He receives sick pay during the 60-day deferment period. Following that, Jack will receive the monthly benefit of S$4,000 for the next 2 years as his disability prevents him from going back to work. His future premium payments are waived, but he continues to be covered under the plan. On his doctor's recommendation, and approved in advance by AIA, he undergoes speech therapy and is reimbursed for the full cost of S$16,800 under the rehabilitation benefit.

After claiming 2 years of benefits, his condition improves but he is still unable to work as a sales executive. He is also unable to work in a suitable occupation that he has been taught, experienced or trained for, so he pivots to a part-time office cleaner earning S$1,500 per month. As long as his disability persists or up to the age of 65, whichever is earlier, he will receive a monthly benefit of S$2,500, thereby topping up his total income to the value of his S$4,000 monthly benefit.

Note: The example is based on a 34-year-old male non-smoker, occupational class 2 and is for illustrative purposes only. The premium rates for this plan are not guaranteed and may be adjusted.

Terms and Conditions:
There are exclusions applicable to the policy and specific benefits where no benefits will be payable. You are advised to read the policy contract for details.

[1] After deducting present earnings, if any.

[2] Subject to full disclosure and no over-insurance at the point of application.

[3] Any rehabilitation treatments and expenses shall be approved in writing by AIA, and where appropriate, be certified in writing by a physician prior to the incurrence of such expenses.

[4] The catastrophic disability benefit is payable only once per policy.

[5] The death benefit is applicable for standalone policy only.

[6] The AIA Vitality premium discount is only applicable to premiums based on a standard life. It is not applicable to any extra premiums due to loading. Discount applicable from the second policy year onwards will depend on the AIA Vitality Status attained. The discount is capped at 15%.

Important Notes:
This insurance plan is underwritten by AIA Singapore Private Limited (Reg. No. 201106386R) ("AIA"). All insurance applications are subject to AIA's underwriting and acceptance. This brochure is not a contract of insurance. The precise terms and conditions of this plan, including exclusions whereby the benefits under your policy may not be paid out, are specified in the policy contract. You are advised to read the policy contract.

As buying a life insurance policy is a long-term commitment, an early termination of the policy usually involves high costs and the surrender value, if any, that is payable to you may be zero or less than the total premiums paid. You should consider carefully before terminating the policy or switching to a new one as there may be disadvantages in doing so. The new policy may cost more or have fewer benefits at the same cost.
